FEBRUARY MEETING

CFFA's Banquet Committee and Board of Director's present the 24th Annual Banquet. Ernie Schweibert will be our feature program speaker. Ernie was our banquet speaker many years ago and has returned to celebrate another year of CFFA's continued efforts in support of fly fishing. Ernie's program will be Atlantic Salmon Fishing in Russia. This program will highlight a new opportunity in fly fishing. Who know? Someday you may be able to fish this area. This program will provide some background from someone who has done it.

Ernie is one of the most accomplished and experienced fly fishermen in the world. His books include Matching the Hatch, Trout, Nymph, and A River For Christmas. Come and meet this fascinating individual.

In addition to this program, prizes will be offered through door prizes, the Insurance Raffle, Silent Auction, Fly Tying Hutch Special Raffle and the General Conservation Raffle.

Come out and support your club and have a great time!

From the Vest of the President

This month marks our 26th year as an organization dedicated to preserving and promoting the pleasures and traditions of fly fishing and conserving game-fish waters. One year into our second quarter-century! I "don't know whether or not our founding members thought about goals for 25 years out, but we probably should. A lot has changed with fly fishing, the environment, and related problems and issues since CFFA was founded. Where do you think CFFA should be in 2018? We should all give this some thought.

As I mentioned last month, I'm really looking forward to having Ernie Schweibert as our speaker this year. The outlook for Salmon is especially good with the new fishery in Russia for those who can afford to go there, and the buy-out of the Greenland netting rights for the next few years for those of us who do their salmon fishing closer to home. Ernie should have a lot to tell us, and some great slides as well. Don't forget to bring any books you would like autographed.

Our Expo is looking pretty good as well. We have a fly-tying workshop with Page Rogers, programs on trout and saltwater fishing, an open ended seminar with Ernie Schweibert, and great lineup of exhibitors. All we need now is high attendance and good weather. Anything you can do to influence either or both of these would be greatly appreciated.

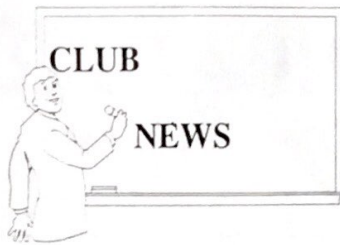

Our anniversary publication, The Flyfisher's Companion has gone to press, and we have every hope that there will be copies for all of you at the Expo. At the very least we will have a proof copy for you to look at, order forms and a definite delivery date. Everyone who has seen the final draft, myself included, has been impressed with its content and quality. Most of the material will be new to current members; for some it will be a pleasant revisit of the past. See what Gary LaFontaine was writing before he became a famous personality. Learn some new techniques, new places to fish, or new patterns. Rediscover former fishing hot spots. Enjoy some well told stories. It's all here, and I'm sure you will like it.

Finally, if you weren't at the January meeting, we have a new display board for our booth. The old one served us well, but if you've ever set it up or carried it around, you know its time was up. The new one is aluminum framed, easy to carry and set up, and a perfect Scarlet Ibis red. It's here now, thanks to a lot of hard work by Promotion VP Charlie Place, and you'll all get to see it at the Expo.

Remember to tie some flies for the bucket raffle, make sure we have your insurance raffle stubs, receipts and unsold tickets before the Banquet, and come out on February 5th and have a good time. See you all there.

Tight Lines.

Junior Fly Fisher - Did you happen to see the Fall 1993 issue of the FFF Junior Flyfishers' Journal? If you did, the young lady who placed 3rd in the National Fly Tying Contest Steelhead Division (11-13 age category) was Amy Brunquell, daughter of CFFA member Phil Brunquell. Amy tied a Scarlet Ibis Atlantic Salmon Fly. For her efforts she won a Metz neck and $25 in Partridge hooks. This isn't the first time Amy has been written up in the JFJ. In the early days of the club's existence (last year), Amy received honorable mention in the National Contest to come up with the Junior Flyfishers' logo. We are sure proud of Amy. KEEP UP THE GOOD WORK!!

New Advertiser - Welcome to Jack Smola. Jack, who joins us this month, is a fly fishing guide and instructor. He provides fly fishing equipment to include custom built Sage, Orvis, Loomis, Fenwick, and Powell Fly Rods. Rod building, casting and fly tying instruction are also provided. Come out and support Jack as well as all our advertisers. Without these folks we don't have local expertise to support our fly fishing habit!!!

Barracuda From The Porch

by Muskrat Sam

"Sam did I ever tell you bout the time I wuz a fly fishin' cudas down in the keys with one of them there guide fellas?"

"No you ain't never told me that story, De-Witt, but I'm a thinkin' your gonna."

"A sittin' here on this porch puts me in a story tellin' mood, Sam, so I reckon your right, I'm a gonna...."

"Me and that guide fella wuz up before the sun come up. He wuz a takin' me out to cuda flats, said some big cuda been caught there last couple a days and he wuz a thinkin' they might still be around. We wuz fishin' bout two hours. I caught bout half a dozen good size cuda when the guide starts a hollerin' and pointin'.

'Huge cuda bout two o'clock,' he hollers. I get my fly line a goin', a let go a long cast bout where the guide fella is a pointin', strip my fly line a couple times, and wham -- feels like I got a semi truck. I'm a lookin' at my reel and a wonderin' if I'm gonna run clean out of line, when the cuda suddenly stops and starts a jumpin' and a runnin' all over the place fickle-like. Then he starts back towards the boat, a runnin' and a jumpin' ever where. Then I sees whats a goin' on. Theres bout four sharks a chasin' that there cuda. That cuda is so scared he runs up against the side of the boat, jumps, and lands right on top of that guide fella, a knockin' him over, flops once, and is out the other side. Wham! Two of them there sharks run in the side of the boat makin' me lose my footin' and fall outta the boat. The guide fella is a holdin' his head and a hollerin'.

'You ok? You ok?'

"I'm hollerin' back, Yeah, I'm ok, but I ain't a letin' go of this here fly rod.

"That cuda is a towin' me farther and farther from the boat I'm a lookin' back and see two of them sharks a comin' at me. I'm a thinkin', Hey we're doin' some trollin' here and I'm the bait."

"Sam you got more of that there ice tea?, I'm mighty dry."

"De-Witt! You gonna tell me the rest of this here story or not?"

"Corse, I got kilt, and ate up by them there sharks. That's what."

I'm dun,
Muskrat Sam

"The Flyfisher's Companion"

As I stated in the last issue, more information follows on CFFA's first major publication. What follows are excerpts from the book.

President's Message

Over the past 25 years, CFFA has grown from a handful of charter members to an organization of more than 300 members dedicated to preserving and promoting the pleasures and traditions of fly fishing and conserving game fish waters. In addition to their monthly meetings and programs, CFFA members have been involved in many projects including annual fly tying, fly fishing and rod building schools, trout stocking and trail maintenance in the Willimantic River Trout Management Area, and other cooperative efforts with DEP and other organizations to develop and sustain a quality fishery in Connecticut.

CFFA members were also involved in major stream improvements along Jeremy's River, the relocation of parts of the Yantic River and Roaring Brook due to nearby highway construction and the establishment of a fly fishing only area, and ultimately, a trout management area on the Willimantic

Introduction - (Excerpt) - by Ken Parkany

This book will help you catch fish. Whether you are a beginner or an experienced flyfisher, this book will also help you improve your skills. In an overall sense its obvious purpose is to educate.

The Flyfisher's Companion is the first single source of educational flyfishing information on Connecticut fly patterns and fly fishing published. It contains some of the best articles from the Connecticut Fly Fishermen's Association's newsletter Lines & Leaders, written over a span of twenty-five years. The "authors" are ordinary anglers who made an original or unique discovery or observation and chose to share it. Or they were, perhaps, helped by someone else in their flyfishing education and then inspired to share that knowledge for the benefit of others.

FORWARD

The FOREWORD by Gary J. LaFontaine is a tribute to CFFA and the support that CFFA has provided to Gary over the years. We did not include it here (after all, we can't let everything out of the bag, eh? Ed.).

River. During this same period, the focus of CFFA members changed from almost exclusively trout fishing to interest in a wide variety of species, both fresh and saltwater, and the fly patterns, tackle and techniques required to catch them.

This book represents the highlights of 25 years of newsletter publication by CFFA members, more than a generation of effort and activity, featuring Connecticut-developed fly patterns and information on Connecticut rivers and streams. Some of the information it contains may be dated, much of it is timeless. I think you will find all of it interesting and entertaining. Enjoy a trip through our past, take and apply what you will, and contribute something yourself to the next generation.

Larry Johnson, President
January 27, 1993

Unlike many "how-to" books on flyfishing, however, this book was not written by a single author; it will not teach you the mechanics of casting; and it is not a classic step-by-step, chapter-by-chapter text. These omissions should not detract from the book's purpose. I tried my best to lay out the contents with the reader in mind. How can he quickly retrieve information he may be seeking? Information that was available to me and other CFFA members, scattered through twenty-five years of newsletters.

Thanks to the contributors to Lines & Leaders, I was able to select about 70 of the most informative articles from over 400 contributions. That was a difficult job. Very difficult. Because there were a lot more than 70 articles that should be included and read by any angler wanting to improve his time astream....

REVIEWS...

"Connecticut fly fishermen will feast on this cornucopia of intimate information about their home waters. There is instruction for the beginner, proven patterns and tips for everyone, and stories and articles that capture the mood and texture of flyfishing. The book also provides the best kind of information on rivers, lakes, and coastal fishing; the hard-won lore that never gets into the big national magazines, the stuff only the serious local fisherman knows. The Flyfisher's Companion is both a passport to some terrific fishing near home and a testament to what the best kind of fly-fishing club can share."

Nick Lyons, Author & Publisher, Lyons & Burford, Publishers, NY

"Connecticut is my home state. The CFFA is my home club. Both of them are as important to me now as they were during my formative years. The place, and the organization that represents flyfishing in the state, still serve as connections to my angling roots."

Gary J. LaFontaine, Author of Challenge of the Trout, Caddisflies, Dry Fly, and Proven Patterns, and Publisher, Greycliff Publishing, MT

"The Flyfisher's Companion is a treasury of fishing writing that will keep your hooks sharp, your cast true, and your eye on the rise. It befits the Twenty-Fifth Anniversary of the CFFA like nothing else could."

J. Edson Leonard, Author of Flies, The Feather in the Breeze
